Published by the
DEMOCRAT PUBLISHING COMPANY
D. A. MACPHERSON, President. W. S. BURKE, Editor.
H. B. HENNING, City Editor.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Albuquerque, N. M., under act of congress of March 3, 1879.

THE MORNING JOURNAL IS THE LEADING REPUBLICAN PAPER OF NEW MEXICO, SUPPORTING THE PRINCIPLES OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY ALL THE TIME AND THE METHODS OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY WHEN THEY ARE RIGHT.

Larger circulation than any other paper in New Mexico. The only paper in New Mexico issued every day in the year.

"The Morning Journal has a higher circulation rating than is accorded to any other paper in Albuquerque or any other daily in New Mexico."—The American Newspaper Directory.

Merely a Suggestion

A BUSINESS man of Albuquerque called at the office of the Morning Journal yesterday, and said he had a suggestion which he would like to make to the people of New Mexico through the columns of this paper, and as the Journal every morning speaks to practically all the people of New Mexico, we assured him that he had selected the proper medium through which to reach the public of this territory.

And this is the suggestion: Since New Mexico will be practically without representation in the congress which will convene on the first Monday of next month it would pay the people of the territory to make a voluntary contribution monthly, of a sufficient sum to employ a respectable, well informed man, to remain in Washington during the session, and devote himself to the interests of New Mexico. And since Mr. Roddy is thoroughly acquainted with all the ins and outs at the capital, and is well known and highly respected not only by the president, but by all the members of both houses of congress, he would be the proper man to send, and would be recognized as the representative of the territory to all intents and purposes, except that he would not be entitled to a seat on the floor of the house. His experience in congress, his acquaintance with all the members of that body and the heads of all the departments, and the high esteem in which he is held by all who know him, would enable him to do just as much good as though he were regularly commissioned as delegate from the territory, and his services would certainly be worth more to us than the cost of maintaining him there.

We believe all that to be true, and therefore we regard the suggestion as one which is well worthy of the serious consideration of the people of the territory. We have no idea what Mr. Roddy might think of the matter, but if he would be willing to go, and would establish himself in such a capacity at Washington, his place would at once become headquarters for the newspaper men from all sections of the country, so far as concerns intelligence from the southwest, and he would be able to do more good advertising for the territory through the press of the country than could be paid for with a hundred times as much money as it would cost to carry out this plan. And besides the ability and enterprise which would thus be exhibited by the people of New Mexico in rising to such an emergency as that which now confronts us, would command the admiration and respect of the whole country.

A Vigorous Yearling

ONE OF OUR local institutions that the people of Albuquerque have good reason to be proud of is the State National bank. This bank opened its doors to the public only about a year ago—or, to be exact, just a year ago last April—and yet the reader will learn by referring to the statement of its condition at the close of business on the 9th inst., which was published in the Morning Journal yesterday, that it makes an exhibit that would do credit to a bank that had been in business for years. To be able to show totals of over half a million dollars at its age is not only highly creditable to the bank, but in view of the fact that there were already three other banks in operation here when it started, such a showing serves to give the reader abroad some idea of the volume of business that is transacted in Albuquerque.

SAYS the Washington Post: New Mexico republicans are demanding of "Bull" Andrews that he resign as their delegate in congress. We have contended all along that the New Mexicans elected Andrews without knowing him, and their request that he resign is proof of it.

COLLEGE hazing seems to be crowding football pretty hard this autumn for the educational mortality honors.—Detroit Journal.

Barbarous New York

THE darkest picture we have yet seen of the barbarism exhibited in some of the Tammany districts of New York on the day of the late elections, is thus painted by ex-Senator McLaurin of South Carolina in an interview with the Washington Star: "They talk about the ill-treatment of the negroes in the south on election day," said ex-Senator McLaurin of South Carolina, who called on the president today, "but there never was anything in the south, even in the most bitter days of partisan and race hatred, to compare with what I saw in New York on election day. I took an automobile and went down Eighth avenue and then across to the east side. If I had been a voter in New York I would have cast my suffrage in the morning against Hearst. If I had been allowed a vote at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, after witnessing intimidation, slugging, threats and every other known expedient to prevent men from voting for Hearst, I should have cast my ballot for Hearst. I never was more disgusted in all my life, never felt greater sympathy for a man than for Hearst, after seeing these things. New York papers do not want to talk about the negro not getting what is coming to him in the south. The treatment he gets there, even in the heat of politics, is a paradise to what I saw some of the Hearst voters get in New York."

BRADSTREET'S for Saturday says excellent reports still come from nearly all lines of trade and industry, the only flaws being complaints that car congestion in widely separated sections affects prices, collections, cereal, coal and coke and general freight movements, and to a certain extent thereby discourages some new orders.

"BULL" ANDREWS will have until January 1 to build a shoo-fly around the Pennsylvania state treasury, the right of way through which has been turned down by the voters.—Washington Post.

The Coming of Aluminum

THE decision to use aluminum wire to carry the electric power from Niagara Falls to the West Shore road is regarded by the Springfield Republican as a matter that may have an important bearing upon the copper industry. The lines of that road are being equipped for electric traction, and the exceptionally long distance to be covered by the feed wires raised the question whether a lighter wire than copper could not be used with equal satisfaction; for the volume of electricity a wire will carry varies directly with the size, and the greater the distance the greater the volume necessary. Experts were consulted generally. It is said, with the result that aluminum has been chosen—its greater lightness making less expensive pole construction. According to the present plans, electric power will be in transmission from the Falls to Syracuse, a distance of 150 miles. Aluminum wire has frequently bid for use in applying electric power, but with little success owing to the start obtained by copper and the indisposition of corporation managers to abandon tried for untried ground.

Books of the Day.

"The Citizen's relations with the crowned heads of Europe." With special photographs and autograph letters from all the ruling sovereigns; with an introduction by Sergius Witte, premier of Russia, for years closely associated with the Evening Citizen in international diplomacy. By the author of "Colonels I Have Met," and "True Conservatism." Elegant quarto. The Squeak Publishing company. "Sweet Charity for Sweet Charity's Sake." By Richard A. McCurdy and Johnny McCall; authors of "Let Not your right hand know whom your left hand doeth." Being a most touching revelation of the noble benevolent Christian work done among the poor and needy policy holders of the Mutual and New York Life companies. This little book is a beautiful story of the life work of two benefactors of the Human Race and the Horse Race. New York, the Hughes Publishing company. Copies will be given gratis to all policy holders for the good of the cause. "The Life and Adventures of Christopher Columbus."—The product of diligent research and painstaking investigation, by Prof. Esalvio Vigil, former superintendent of schools of Bernalillo county. The Squeak Publishing company.

The supposition is pre-eminently correct—only the Almanac is more like an old magpie.

In the matter of rate regulation Senator Sorghum is quoted as saying that there is no use trying to stand on the track and stop the locomotive, while you might be in the parlor car looking at the scenery.

The Boston Transcript fears New Mexico and Arizona couldn't show suitable senatorial timber. It might be difficult to find men who have been indicted sufficiently to feel at home in that august body.

Fifty-one brewers have asked the president that no anti-trust clause be put in the state charters of Oklahoma and the Indian Territory. The action of the brewers is purely philanthropic.

The fact that a delegation of boot and shoe manufacturers visited the president is interesting. Maybe the president is going to try the "Big Kick" for a change.

A London physician has discovered that love is a disease just like measles or tonsillitis and can be cured as easily. The difficulty is that the average patient doesn't want to be cured.

DOLLY VARDEN WALK NOW.

Special Gait Invented to Go With the New Short Skirt.

From the New York Press.

No wonder that women have adopted the new Dolly Varden skirt—which is among the very latest fancies—when they see the way of the fashionable devotee is hard, for with the new skirt one must acquire a new walk to go with it. Although it is popularly supposed that a short skirt is easier to walk in, many dressmakers say that the long skirt is the only one in which one can walk gracefully with comfort. It is easy enough to hold it up and while women have pretty shoes and even the taboored openwork stockings to show there is little danger that they will assist in the movement for cleaner sidewalks. With the Dolly Varden skirt, which is the same length all around, right about the hips and full about the feet, with a sort of swing to it, unless a girl lifts her feet well off the ground and acquires a sort of prance, it is the easiest thing in the world for her to walk in. The front breadth. One thing in favor of the new walk is that it smacks of dash and swagger and gives a youthful effect. It makes one look younger than does either the Grecian bend or the pillar crawl, and although it may be an arduous task to accomplish it, one must suffer to be beautiful anyway.

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S HOBBY.

Has a Valuable Collection of Old American China.

Mrs. Roosevelt has one well developed hobby and that is the collecting of old china. Under her supervision one of the most valuable collections in this country has been placed on exhibition in the basement of the White House, and it is a proud day when she can add something of historic worth to the treasures. The exhibit is made up entirely of remnants of the dinner sets which formerly served the presidential families. It begins with some rare gold rimmed plates and cups and saucers which were the pride of Martha Washington's heart, and continues down to the era of Mrs. Ida Saxton McKinley. Every regime has its representative in the mahogany cabinets, and in some cases, as in the famous dinner set of Mrs. Hayes, the set is almost complete. During the past week Mrs. Roosevelt received from Mrs. George F. Elliott four pieces of the Monroe china. They were a soup tureen of generous proportions adorned with a deep yellow border entwined in gold, and three tea plates, in the center of which is a cluster of wild flowers. The mistress of the White House allows her treasures to be inspected at any time, and is gracious about granting permission to painters and decorators who wish to get genuine colonial designs.
